DECEMBER eNEWSLETTER

A Message from Your Park Director David Green

As we enter the wintery months, Richfield Heritage Preserve takes a more heightened, breath-taking beauty. The backdrop of snow emphasizes the shapes of vines, pine trees, branches, rocks and stumps, drawing our eyes to details in a way we didn't quite notice before. Animal tracks left in the snow, share the stories of the evening's activities and visitors. The waterfalls in The Preserve are incredibly beautiful as they freeze and thaw, creating patterns in the streams and on rock-outcroppings. I encourage you to take advantage of RHP during ALL of the seasons. I guarantee you will find peace and delight in every moment.

Happy Holidays

Wishing you all the best this season!

Richfield Heritage Preserve

THANK YOU!

I want to thank ALL of our partners, friends and volunteers for their hard work and devotion to this park. In all my years working in parks and recreation, I have not seen anything quite like what we have here in terms of people getting involved, sharing their time and talents and seeing the huge amount of impact made selflessly by so many in a relatively short amount of time. So much of the work that you do is behind the scenes but does not go unnoticed. We are making progress every day and I'm excited to see what we will accomplish in the years to come.

UPDATE!

RHP eNEWS

Beginning in January 2022, the RHP eNewsletter is going to come to you bi-monthly, so every two months. We also plan to publish a print version twice a year and mail it to the Richfield community. Stay-tuned!

I look forward to seeing you on the trails in the New Year!

Sincerely,

David Green
